SENSATION CAUSED AT TRENTON!

Frank A. Magowan Taken to

WILL BE SUED HEAVILY

TRENTON, N. J., August 22.-Frank A. Magowan, until recently rated as a mill-ionaire and frequently mentioned in connection with the republican gubernatorial nomination this year, was arrested today on a capias, charged with the seduction of Helen Edith Barnes and the alienation of her affections from her husband, John Albert Barnes.

The latter was superintendent of the Eastern Rubber Company, one of the Magowan concerns which a fortnight since passed into the hands of a receiver, and it is he who prefers the charges against Magowan.

Magowan was taken at once to the Mercer county jail and detained under $25,000 bail. The heavy ball was fixed on account of the belief that Magowan was arranging to leave for Mexico, and because Barnes is desirous of instituting suit to recover $100,- desirous of instituting suit to recover $100,000 damages against him.

The complaint covers thirty typewritten pages and is a succinct description of Magowan's methods and doings in ruining the Barnes home. It is sworn to by Barnes, and, basing his action upon its contents, Supreme Court Commissioner John S. Aitkin granted a capias, stating in his writ that, having read and considered the complaint, it is sufficiently proved that the said Frank Magowan has been gullty of criminal relations with the said Helen Edith Barnes.

Magowan's arrest on such charges has created a great sensation here. Reports were in circulation a few days ago that Barnes was seeking him with a revolver, and a tragic conclusion of the affair had

Mrs. Barnes refuses to return to the city, her husband says in the complaint, and in response to his entreaties to do so she repeatedly declares she loves Magowan and will not give him up.

At this writing Magowan is in the custody of Sheriff Ege of this county, no one having come forward to give ball for him.

Later.—Capt. Lawrence Farrell and Senator William H. Skirm this afternoon furnished ball for Magowan, and he was at once released from custody.

The papers in the big damage suit were filed today, and the case will come up for trial at the November term of the supreme court.

Chauncey H. Beasley of counsel for Barnes is drawing up a petition for divorce for him, which, it is expected, will be filed within twenty-four hours.

STREET EXTENSION

Hearing in the Injunction Case Brought by the Tingles.

WHY THE PLAN SHOULD NOT BE FILED

Argument Made by the Attorney for the Complainants.

THE DISTRICT'S REPLY

Judge McComas today heard arguments in support of and against the rule to show cause why the District Commissioners should not be enjoined from filing with the surveyor the first section of the man for the proposed extension of streets and highways in the District of Columbia. The rule was recently made by Judge Cole, on motion of A. K. and E. J. Tingle, who set forth that the present street extension plan results in taking nearly all of the four and a half acres belonging to them for use as streets and a small triangular park, leaving their house partly on a portion of the property not so used and partly in the highway. The ground left for the use of the complainants, it is claimed, comprises narrow strips of land, and the grading of the streets through will be very heavy.

Mr. William A. Meloy represented the Mr. William A. Meloy represented the Tingles, while Attorney for the District S. T. Thomas and his assistant, Mr. Andrew B. Duvall, appeared for the Commissioners. Mr. Meloy opened the proceedings today by explaining to the court that the matter at issue depended upon the constitutionality of an act of Congress passed March 2, 1895, and then read the original and amended bills of the complainants, which have heretofore been published in substance in The Star. Mr. Meloy also read the act referred to, after which Mr. Thomas recited the answer of the Commissioners, printed in full in last Monday's Star.

In opening his argument, Mr. Melov characterized the case in dispute as one of great gravity. He went on to speak of Washington as the center of free institutions, as Jerusalem was the center of religion when Judge McComas interrupted to say:

Mr. Thomas, for the Commissioners, followed Mr. Melvy.

JOHN WALLER'S CASE

He Claims That the Charges Were Not Sustained.

WROTE A PRIVATE BUSINESS LETTER

And on That the Whole Prosecution Rests.

WHAT IS THOUGHT HERE

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., August 22 - Sen ator Baker is in receipt of an autograph letter from John Waller, formerly American consul at Tamatave, written from the latter's cell at the Maison Centrale le Clairvaux, commenting upon his imprisonment. Waller says in part:

"As you are a lawyer of long experience I ask you to carefully notice the test mony of Capt. Leavezot and notice that it was on his testimony that the prosecution seems to have based the charge that I was guilty of corresponding with the enemy of France. "I submit that the evidence for the prose cution utterly fails to sustain or support the charge under which I am in solitary confinement for twenty years, and by the failure of which the case against me should have been dismissed by the prosecution in so far as it related to a violation of the penal code named in the indictment. "I further submit that the testimony of the only witness on this point falls to show or prove that either my wife or George E. Tessien are enemies to France in any sense Tessien are enemies to France in any sense whatever.

"It seems, then, that the whole case against me rests upon the letter which I wrote to Ratsmania, a young Malagisie man. This relates solely to a business affair with which France has nothing to do nor does it relate to or concern the French government in any particular whatever."

The American Demand.

PARIS, August 22.-A semi-official note was issued today saying it is inexact that the United States government has demanded the release of Mr. John L. Wailer and the payment of an indemnity on account of his sentence to twenty years' imprison-ment by a court-martial on the Island of Madagascar, where Mr. Waller was former-ly a United States consul.

The following is given in official circles as a statement of the Waller case, so far as the facts have been reported to the United States. They claim that there is no doubt that while in a country occupied by the French Mr. Waller wrote letters to the people the French were opposing. These letters were traced to him, and were made letters were traced to him, and were made the pretext for his arrest and conviction. This arrest and conviction was irregular. His trial was not fair, and during his im-prisonment, both before and after convic-tion, he was treated with great harshness. He was taken to France chained to the deck of a steamer, and though ill and suf-fering he was imprisoned without proper care.

The French government has not explain The French government has not explained in any satisfactory manner the irregular arrest and trial. It has attempted to excuse it by saying that in time of war military courts and trials are different from civil proceedings in time of peace, but this explanation, in the opinion of the United States, does not meet the case, and in the opinion of the State Department there is still a strong probability that Waller's still a strong probability that Waller's treatment was due to the concessions he treatment was due to the concessions he elaimed in Madagascar.

When the case was first presented to the Department of State it appeared that there was little that could be done for Waller. The first evidence furnished by the French government of Waller's indiscretions made his case look doubtful, but later developments, including the failure of the Evidence of the Control of th later developments, including the failure of the French government to explain the ir-regular proceedings of the trial, and the necessarily harsh and inhuman treatment of the prisoner, and the demonstrated fact that Waller had some equity rights, at least, in Madagascar, made his case ap-pear in a far better light. pear in a far better light.

In view of what has come to light as a result of later inquiries, it is held that the United States has good ground for demanding Waller's release and indemalty for his wrongs.

Mr. Eustis Sees Waller. The Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Adee, authorizes the statement that information in response to urgent instructions cabled him some three weeks ago, that the record of the proceedings and evidence in the court-martial of Mr. Waller at Tamatave expected to reach Paris toward the end this month. Mr. Eustis also reports that access to

IRISH CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT UNION

Movement to Amend the Title of the Organization. The Irish Catholic Benevolent Union assembled yesterday in St. Mary's Church, on 5th street near H, for its twenty-seventh anrual convention. There were over one hundred delegates present, representing 112 societies. Solemn high mass preceded the formal opening of the convention, Rev. George Glaab, pastor of St. Mary's, offi-ciating. The president of the union, Edwin Gaw-Flannigan, opened the session and presided. Reports of committees and the work of organization occupied the day, and at 2 o'clock the convention adjourned to at 2 o'clock the convention adjourned to meet this morning.

The session today was held in Carroll Hall, on G street. Miss Katie Gornan of Rhode Island, one of the vice presidents of the association, presided. Miss Bland acted as secretary. There was a large number of ladies present, and a lively interest was taken in the proceedings. The business of the day was on the amendments proposed to the constitution of the society. Progress was slow, owing to the extended discussion on each topic. It was provided that at least one of the vice presidents should be a woman. An amendment was also adopted providing that no office should have more than two consecutive terms without unaniproviding that no office should have more than two consecutive terms without unanimous consent. An amendment providing for proper credentials was also approved. The committee on constitution reported in favor of striking the word "Irish" out of the name of the association.

The session this afternoon is given up to the consideration of appointing special committees and election of officers. The convention will also have its picture taken.

Her Boy is Missing. An old blind woman, who gave her name as Sarah White of Danville, Va., called at police headquarters yesterday afternoon and asked the police to institute search for her missing boy. Clarence White is his name, and he is eight years old. The boy and he is eight years old. The boy and his mother came here on an excursion yesterday morning, and the boy left her during the day, and she thinks he is lost. He had six toes on each foot when he was born, and six fingers on each hand, but these extra fingers and toes have been amputated, and there will be no trouble in establishing his identity. Last night the blind woman remained at the mission. Her ticket expires tonight, but she does no want to return home without the boy.

The Watch and Chain Restored. Willie Martin, a colored woman, returned the handsome gold watch and chain to Dr. McMurtrie, on S street, fast night, As printed in yesterday's Star, Jim Anderson printed in yesterday's Star, Jim Anderson was arrested for the theft, and it is known that this girl is a particular friend of his. When she returned the stolen property she said it had been given to her by a boy on the street. This story, of course, was not believed, and she was locked up. The colored couple will appear in the Police Court tomorrow for a hearing.

The Hour for Lighting Lamps

To the Editor of The Evening Star: It is to be hoped that people who read the weather reports in The Star will also read the schedule for the city lights and see to it that it is complied with. Last night's Star reported that all gas lamps night's Star reported that all gas lamps must be lighted by 7:01 p.m. "The lighting is begun one hour before." The first iamp on my street was lighted at 7:39 p.m., and the boy informed me that he was instructed to begin at 7:01 p.m., and that The Star was "off its base." It ought to be considerable in the pockets of the gas company to begin lighting an hour later, and as the people who pay taxes are just that much out of pocket, it seems that some one ought to see to this. The policeman on the block says it is none of his business. F. C. K.

Richard Hensley, a colored boy, who wanted fruit for his supper, last evening partook of some peaches belonging to Joel Lindsey, and he was taxed 50 cents apiece for them. The owner of the peaches was driving to market, and when near Ben-ning the boy put his hand in the wagon and took ten peaches. Policeman Gardner arrested him, and Judge Miller imposed

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS

Trust.

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

NEW YORK, August 22.-Opening prices this morning were slightly lower than those recorded at the close of yesterday's business, but subsequently advanced under a well-distributed volume of business. onden tock advantage of the higher prices recorded yesterday to realize on long holdings, the sales of St. Paul for foreign account being particularly noticeable.

The market for foreign exchange was unusually dull, as remitters were not disposed to pay bankers' rates for foreign accommodations, in view of the fact that indications of a general shading off in rates are daily multiplying.

Increased offerings of grain and flour bills were reported and all classes of commercial bilis were fractionally lower. The absence of cable transfers against pros-pective gold shipments is encouraging, in-dicating an early collepse of the outward pective gold snipments is encouraging, indicating an early collepse of the outward movemen.

The rallroad list was again forced into a position of secondary importance, the more volatile industrials again monopolizing the bulk of the day's trading. The trading in sugar again demonstrated the presence of a determined opposition to improvement. A reduction in the company's manufactured product, which extend to all grades, aided the depression during the early transactions, but covering operations later in the day advanced the price for a substantial gain over initial figures. In trade circles further reductions are generally expected, which will, as a matter of course, be reflected by concessions in the market value of the stock.

Chicago Gas was depressed at the opening on the prospect that the validity of the Fidelity Trust receipts will be determined by judicial inquiry in the very near future. A buying movement inaugurated about the noon hour in the interest of the short account forced the price back well beyond opening figures, but sentiment was not in harmony with the change in figures.

American Tobacco sold up 2 per cent to 96 during the first hour, but was liberally sold down to 33½ on assurances that the independent manufacturers would immediately begin the manufacturer of cigarettes and invade the territory of the present monopoly at every possible point. This latter determination is generally regarded as a serious menace to the profits of the American company, and prevailing senti-

With tangible evidence of the ability to prevent any serious depletion of the treasury's gold reserve and the probable early discontinuance of liquidation in the industrial list, railway speculation should shortly become of such a character as to inspire confidence in much higher prices.

Public interest in speculation will revive immediately that evidences of financial growth are reflected in these published reports, and the present level of values will gradually give way before an increasing and legitimate demand from investors.

The final dealings were unchanged in the main features, with prices steady around the best for the day.
